

The Impact of COVID-19 on California's Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander Communities

The UCLA Center for Health Policy Research has released new findings from the June–August 2022 California Health Interview Survey (CHIS) Preliminary COVID-19 Estimates Dashboard, which highlights Asian Americans, Native Hawaiians, and Pacific Islanders' experiences with hate incidents, financial and work difficulties, and views on government's response to COVID-19.

1 in 13 (8%)

Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander (AANHPI) adults in California experienced a hate incident due to COVID-19 in the past 12 months

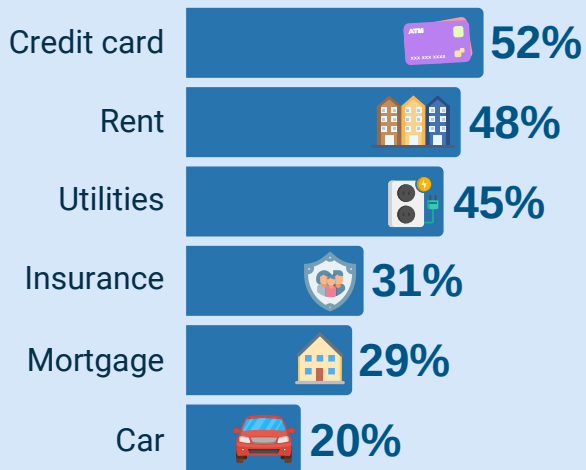

More than

1 in 5 (22%)

AANHPI adults in California witnessed another Asian/Pacific Islander person being treated unfairly due to their race/ethnicity

Financial and Work Difficulties

Among AANHPI adults who had financial difficulties due to the COVID-19 pandemic, types of bills they had trouble paying...

AANHPI adults who had difficulties performing work due to poor internet or lack of computer

Nearly 1 in 8 (12%)

AANHPI adults had difficulties performing work due to poor internet or lack of computer

Views on Government During the Pandemic

According to AANHPI adults, have local and federal government done a good job managing the COVID-19 outbreak?

	Local government	vs.	National government
Strongly agree	12%		9%
Agree	48%		36%
Neither agree nor disagree	30%		30%
Disagree	7%		16%
Strongly disagree	3%		9%